This is great but while you are talking trees are being lost and houses are coming down. Immediate action is necessary to just hang on.

thanks for asking ~ please continue to fight hard to preserve us.

Thank you for starting Ansley Park Forever! Please save our beautiful neighborhood before it is all knocked down.

Appreciate all the work Ansley Park Forever has done so far. I get contacted at least twice a month by developers or real estate representatives interested in my property. I politely tell them my home is not for sell and that it was built by a historic architect and that we have gone to great lengths to maintain the current footprint and restore architectural elements (based on the original plans) that had been removed. I ask them to take me off their call list.

Keep up friendly, cooperative spirit that results in accomplishing goals.

Many people live here due to the geographic location and convenience to work, etc. This is a major factor that was missing from the survey.

I would ask for better communication. I was unaware of the street meetings until after mine had past.

Most neighbors, including myself, aren't closely following zoning regulations. We may need a Zoning 101 meeting for those who want to learn more.

should kick NPU's with conflicts of interest off the zoning committee.

Probably need a new non-profit

I appreciate the work you are doing!

I sincerely appreciate the efforts of volunteers who are working to preserve and beautify this community.

Thank you Ansley Park Forever for all you're doing to enhance and protect our beautiful, unique neighborhood.

Thanks for doing this.

Thanks for spearheading this effort.

thank you for this!

Thank you for taking this on.

Thank you for this discussion.

Thank you for your volunteer work to improve our neighborhood!

Thank you for establishing Ansley Park Forever!

You all are doing a great job. Hopefully things will be easier for community in 2021.

thanks for all that you do and asking the questions

Thanks to the committee for taking on this project!

Ansley should come up with a packet for those who want to build/renovate that lays out neighborhood guidelines, restrictions and expectations that will help avoid conflict down the road

A few months ago the Ansleyphile carried an op-ed by the President of APCA where he said (something like) that he would gladly put up a wall with broken glass on top to ward off the Beltline. That undermined APCA's credibility as a voice for enlightened planning. Perhaps there could be a clarification about whether that really is APCA's culture and attitude.

Very glad you are on this. While "save the neighborhood" is fine, the key is to convince folks it is in their economic self-interest (i.e., keep home values high) to tighten restrictions.

I wonder if we had a set of voluntary good neighbor rules (e.g., tree preservation, height restrictions, sidewalk installation) that we could ask each developer to sign. If he/she/they sign, the civic association will generally not opposed variances and any other needed permits. Just a thought. Also, as an aside, outstanding job on the recent Ansley call in presenting the concerns and opportunities at play.

do not understand the parking question, on site, off site ??

Height restrictions already exist. What do you mean about maintaining the curvilinear streetscapes? What do you mean by provide parking? Is someone going to build a parking deck?

We left blank items that we did not understand or that needed much more specificity before we could assign a degree of importance
